MONDAY

John Wells, friendly State Farm agent, explains how a low-cost State Farm Life insurance policy builds up cash to borrow on, while it provides protection. John hopes offering a doggie bone will add to his own protection.

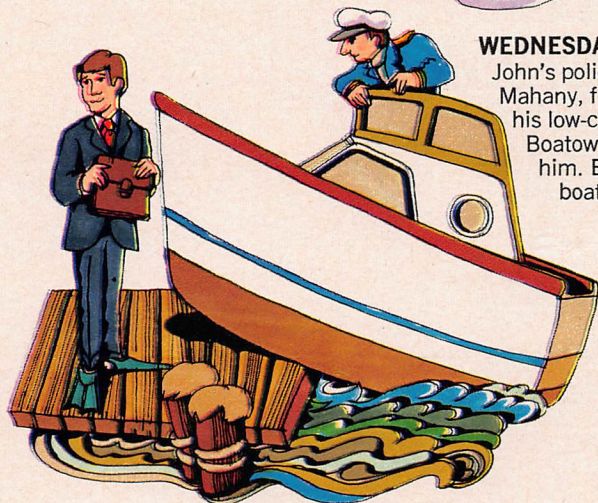

TUESDAY

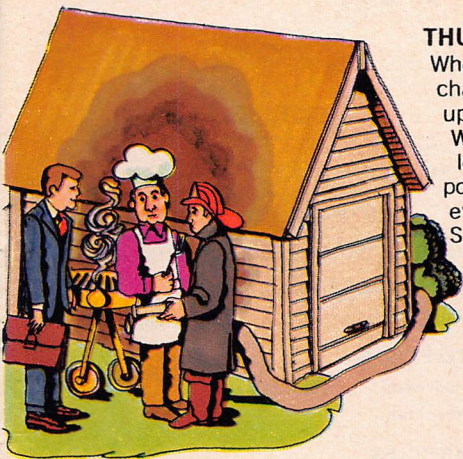

John offers fast, friendly service to a State Farm policyholder on his way to a big sledding party, when his car did a little sliding of its own.

WEDNESDAY

John's policyholder, Gene Mahany, finds out how well his low-cost State Farm Boatowners insurance covers him. Even when he puts his boat in dry dock.

THURSDAY

When friend Sam Smith sets out to charcoal-broil some steaks, he ends up charcoal-broiling his garage.

When John explains that Sam's low-cost State Farm Homeowners policy takes care of everything, everyone is relieved. Including Sam, of all future barbecuing duties.

FRIDAY

John delivers the first check to a couple who bought State Farm Life insurance years ago.

Now, with the extra money from State Farm insurance, they can better afford to do what they couldn't do before. Nothing.

Every day, State Farm agents help all kinds of people get all kinds of insurance for their homes, their cars, their lives and their health. All at State Farm's low rates. All with State Farm's fast, friendly service. They're why State Farm is biggest in car and homeowners insurance, and one of the fastest-growing major life insurers. And now your State Farm agent can also help you with low cost State Farm health insurance. See the Yellow Pages for the State Farm agent nearest you. And be sure to ask him about State Farm's Monthly Pay Plan that makes it easy to pay for all your insurance with one monthly check.

State Farm is all you need to know about insurance.

as we see it

■ Our screens are filled with promotion spots advertising each network's offerings for the new season. Newspapers and news magazines are summarizing the new programs for their readers. There is an air of expectancy in the Nation's living rooms, a feeling of hope that some of the new shows will become family favorites.

This is true whether we are admitted television enthusiasts or the sort who wouldn't think of confessing how important a part television plays in our lives. Those who say they "never" watch, usually mean they never watch anything but regular news programs, extended coverage of important national and international events, sports, an occasional special, a play or two, the good movies, and perhaps a few of the regular nighttime series.

■ The new season will not start all at once. NBC has scheduled the premiere performances of its new shows and, in general, new episodes of returning programs, the week of Sept. 14. CBS has picked the week of Sept. 22. ABC, with the longest list of new programs, will start some the week of Sept. 14 and hold others for debut performances as late as Sept. 26.

It's just as well. With this staggered schedule of openings, we should have an opportunity to sample the new shows quite early in the season. We always make a point of urging readers to watch at least one episode of the new series. Nowadays, with production costs so high, networks seem to insist on a show being an immediate hit or off it goes. Some quite promising programs have been lost because viewers didn't get around to watching them soon enough.

■ Next week is our annual Preview Issue, a detailed forecast of the new season. We believe you will find it informative and entertaining.

JOSEPH FINNIGAN REPORTS:

"Mr. Magoo" and his voice, JIM BACKUS, are coming back for another special on NBC Feb. 15. It's called "Uncle Sam Magoo," a folk musical that traces the history of the United States. WALTER SCHARF, musical supervisor for the "Funny Girl" film, is composing songs for "Magoo" . . . FRANK SINATRA's one-man special airs on CBS Nov. 12. The show is being written by SHELDON KELLER, who penned three previous SINATRA outings . . . Don't blame ABC's censor if he's a little nervous. DAVID STEINBERG, the satirist who was in the middle of that Smothers Brothers-CBS battle because of Biblical jokes he told on their show, is a regular on ABC's new Music Scene series this fall.

NBC program planners are touring Disneyland these days, but not as summer tourists. They're cooking up a special on the park . . . CHARLES NELSON REILLY, the nervous real-estate man in The Ghost and Mrs. Muir, moonlights on 10 DEAN MARTIN shows next season . . . DEAN does a little moonlighting this fall too, when he and LUCILLE BALL show up on the December CBS special, "Ann-Margret: From Hollywood with Love."

DICK VAN DYKE has another special date with CBS. He's taping early next year for airing in the spring . . . TOM JONES does six shows from Hollywood this season. Tickets to a JONES taping session--or even a dress rehearsal--are as hard to get as LAWRENCE WELK ducats. And that's where the comparison stops . . . HAL HOLBROOK (Mark Twain) is working on "I'll Trade You an Elk," a two-part episode for The Wonderful World of Disney. JOE FLYNN, grouchy McHale's Navy captain, is a town mayor in the show . . . The negotiations between VINCE EDWARDS and CBS include both acting and directing.

BING CROSBY hosts a Christmas holiday special on NBC and it'll be produced by NICK VANOFF and BILL HARBACH for whom BING usually works on ABC's Hollywood Palace in December . . . BING's son GARY has a job too. He's playing a musician in a Julia segment . . . Paramount is filming "House on the Hill," an ABC Movie of the Week. It's a drama about a physician, his three doctor sons and their clinic . . . A couple of Hollywood veterans, BRIAN DONLEVY and cowboy TIM HOLT, are doing some TV this fall. DONLEVY guests on a Name of the Game, and HOLT rides into a Virginian sunset.

Producer HARRY ACKERMAN (Bewitched) has a pilot deal with NBC to make a half-hour comedy series based on LEE MARVIN's hit movie "Cat Ballou." Veteran villain JACK ELAM has been cast in the part which got MARVIN his Academy Award . . . NBC also has a contract with Screen Gems for a FLIP WILSON comedy which might air next year.

'TV NEWSMEN SHOULD NOT BE HINDERED'

A journalist advocates untrammelled coverage of political conventions

By Neil Hickey

In 1968, the Democratic National Convention adopted a resolution directing the formation of a Commission on Rules to help plan future conventions. Among the Commission's concerns are the impact of television on the conduct of national political conventions. Hearings on the subject were held recently in Washington, during which spokesmen from newspapers, wire services, TV, and several universities gave their views. Among those asked to testify was Neil Hickey, TV GUIDE's New York Bureau Chief, who with Richard K. Doan of the New York Bureau, covered both the Republican and Democratic conventions last August for the magazine. Hickey wrote a series of articles which ran last winter about the turmoil at the Democratic Convention. We believe his statement to the Commission was a comprehensive and lucid explanation of why television should have absolute freedom in covering conventions. The statement follows:

As an observer in Chicago last August, I had a chance to see the Democratic National Convention from a variety of vantage points: from the press gallery, from the convention floor, from the control booths and anchor booths of the television networks, as well as from the hotel lobbies, streets and parks. Most Americans, of course, were not so fortunate nor well-placed. They experienced the convention in their living rooms in silent communion with their favorite TV commentators. What they know about Chicago, they know from the pictures and the words directed at them from a few score journalists employed by the television networks. This has been the case, increasingly, since 1952.

Of this fact, I am sure that you gentlemen of the Democratic National Committee are more acutely aware than most of us in this hearing room today. In one sense, it's unfortunate that so many Americans are now content to get their news so effortlessly without the exertion of probing and sifting the rather complicated issues that face all of us. But in another sense, it's obviously helpful that millions of us are at least exposed—in a way we never were 25 years ago—to the processes that affect our destinies.

National conventions have become one of the great all-time attractions of television. Viewers are addicted to them; TV newsmen love to cover them; and the two parties have geared and streamlined their gatherings in recognition of the fact that the Nation's voters are observing what's going on at the moment it's happening. It's pointless to cling to any old fictions that television is external to the convention process, as newspaper and radio reporting still are—just as they were in the days of Roosevelt and beyond. Television is now central to the life of national conventions, and other reporting media aren't. It's that simple. The situation has evolved that way since 1952. And it is rather a mixed blessing. The three national TV networks—besides informing their own viewers—constitute a kind of internal communication wire linking up all segments and camps among the conventioners. The camp which uses the internal wire most skillfully stands a good chance of winning the nomination for its man. The object of the game is to get one's own favorable facts and rumors into circulation on this wire before the opposition's—and more frequently.

The interests of TV newsmen and convention managers are at once compatible and inimical. Each wants a lively show—but his own kind of lively show. The problem is to keep these interests apart, so that the goals of one do not infect the activities of the other.

For example: this commission, I understand, is interested in the question of how much access TV newsmen should have to the convention floor. The argument is made that they and their cameras crowd the aisles, and cause distracting knots of activity as they go about interviewing delegates. But convention floors have been crowded for all time, and the paltry few TV newsmen who are on it at any given moment don't add noticeably to the hundreds of messengers, security men, non-delegate strategists, and stray demonstrators who seem to be in constant, aimless motion in the aisles.

Besides, how is a poor delegate to get his rumor into circulation if not with the help of a television reporter? We all can think of instances where rumor has subtly congealed into fact right before our eyes; where something has been created out of nothing by a smart delegate who thought fast when a microphone was put in front of him. This pollution of the internal wire might be thought a good reason for eliminating TV from the floor—but surely not by the delegates themselves. I have the feeling that the heads of delegations would be lonely and lost without TV reporters to talk to and to explain themselves to. We needn't worry about this too much. TV floor reporters in general are alert to publicize to their viewers the undocumented character of an assertion and are well-trained by now to sniff out the truffles of truth in the fallow earth of rumor.

For that reason, among others, I feel that TV newsmen should not be hindered in their task of prowling among the delegates and trying to piece together what, indeed, is going on—what is the real sense of the convention at that moment—while a seconding speech of calcifying redundancy may be in progress at the podium. This is their obligation as newsmen and—assuming their conscientiousness, disinterestedness and intelligence—one of the most useful services they can perform for the public, in putting the questions to these representatives that a wise viewer would pose, if he could.

But I think it is more helpful here to state general principles about what the relation of conventions and TV ought to be, rather than cataloguing scores of specifics such as access to the floor, or whether TV should for- → sake the podium to go roaming the convention city's hotels and streets and parks for news. These are lesser matters in the long run. I operate on the principle that TV news is and ought to be free; that in the realm of hard news it has the same rights as newspapers to cover events any way it chooses, and to make its own mistakes in so doing. When the public is displeased with the results, it says so—and loudly; as it did last year when tens of thousands of Americans wrote to the networks, and to the FCC complaining that they thought TV news had unfairly told the story of the Chicago convention. I am certain—although no high network news official has told me so and some would even deny it publicly—that future coverage of conventions will be altered subtly because of that outpouring of national dismay. TV is rather a tender and self-conscious medium, and one supported by national advertisers. It is thus not eager to have any instant replay of all that contentiousness in future convention summers. Network TV's hypersensitivity to public disfavor may be good or bad, depending on how kindly you happen to feel toward TV news in the first place. It may, for example, result in unwonted self-censorship, which would not be good for the free debate of issues. But it may be one of the surest guarantees that the light of TV's scrutiny will shine evenly and proportionately on all of the convention's contending forces.

Let us say simply that television news has a right to your cooperation—cooperation in more generous measure than was afforded last August in Chicago. I can sympathize with this commission's desire to be constructive in these hearings rather than retrospective; to look to the future rather than belaboring the past. But I would linger on the past only long enough to concur in the conviction, held by many observers, that the version of the Democratic National Convention—and its attendant byplay—which reached the American public via television last August was a principal cause of the Democratic defeat in November. Thus, I think you are well-advised to explore in these hearings methods of improving the picture of the party which is to filter through to those 60,000,000 TV-equipped American homes in 1972. But I promise you that the solution is not to examine ways of influencing television's coverage of you—but to examine yourselves. Television news is at root nothing more than a mirror—a somewhat mottled and distorted mirror at times. But it is not at all the Fun House mirror which many Democrats and TV watchers claimed it was last August. Television cannot be expected to neutralize your deformities in the transmission of your images.

For its own part, the television medium has a great moral obligation to treat your deliberations with fairness if not total objectivity, with conscientious journalistic impartiality, with an unself-conscious and untheatrical determination to find the true sense of your convention. And if party officials attempt to suborn, subvert or impede that mission, then television must resist them with firmness and tact. We must keep in mind that TV newsmen—like every other kind of newsmen—are human beings, not computers, and we err at times in expecting of them superhuman detachment. In an interview with Public Broadcast Laboratory aired last December 22, David Brinkley of NBC said this: "A person presumably is expected to go on the air and be objective, which is to say that he is . . . to have no likes, no dislikes, no feelings, no views, no values, no standards; to be a machine. Well, if I were objective . . . or if anyone was, he would have to be put away somewhere in an institution because he'd be some sort of vegetable. I'm not objective, make no pretense of being objective. There are a great many things I like and dislike, and it may be that at times some indication of this appears in my facial expression . . . or anyone else's. If it didn't, we'd be in a pretty sad, indeed pitiful, condition. Objectivity is impossible to the normal human being. Fairness, however, is attainable, and that's what we strive for—not objectivity, fairness."

There are, to be sure, a number of dismaying aspects to TV convention coverage, some of them simply built into the medium and beyond amelioration: the need, for example, of spontaneous, ad-libbed interpretation, the lack of time to ponder and assess, to document and probe; the susceptibility to rumor-mongers and special pleaders. There is also the unseemly lust for larger and larger audiences, causing a heated three-way competition, with the attendant dangers that such competition poses. One network once took the extraordinary step of relieving its altogether capable anchor man and replacing him with a two-man team, in the search for higher ratings for its convention coverage. All of the networks engage in post-convention jubilation—conducted in full-page advertisements in The New York Times and various trade publications—calling attention to their ratings triumphs, where possible, and to their superior demographics—conveying an impression that TV coverage of conventions is just one more way of delivering viewer scalps to stockholders and advertisers. Such ballyhoo is more acceptable in regard to The Beverly Hillbillies, Bewitched or Bonanza, but it seems undignified and retrograde when applied to news and actuality presentations.

But—such considerations aside—the two major parties need, and are eager for, television's presence because it gives you instant access to millions of voters, and allows you to prime them, to display your merchandise, for the November elections. And the most credible way to do that is to submit your proceedings to the full light of public disclosure, both electronic and print. I recall hearing a suggestion last year—intended frivolously, I hope—that the two national committees simply buy the time and televise their own conventions the way they want. That surely would be no service to the public, any more than the public is served by baseball and football sportscasters who are in the employ of club owners and advertisers, and who therefore describe a version of the contest which frequently is at odds with the event itself.

I can foresee a time, however, in the dawning of this new age of Public TV, Satellite TV, and Cable TV, when a single channel might be set aside exclusively for podium business at conventions, and remain trained on that spot for the benefit of viewers who like their conventions neat—that is, without commentary, analysis, sidebar reporting, or commercials. I suspect, however, that most viewers—lulled by the speeches, and in search of interpretation—would end up back in the arms of their favorite anchor men.

I feel sure that television news will go to the 1972 national conventions a little sadder and wiser, eager to obviate any outpourings of national dismay over their methods, eager to quash hints of bias, determined to maintain their cool and to deliver a lucid and fair account of the proceedings. I think the surest way to guarantee their success is for the National Committee to forget about television's presence as far as it can, go about the vastly more important business of nominating a man for the Presidency of the United States—and let television newsmen go about theirs.

Thank you.

What is it that prays together, stays together, out-troupes the Trapps, and for fun on Saturday night sits around counting each other? The King Family, of course.

There are only 39 clan members (not all showed up for their photograph) enrolled in the newest edition of The King Family, ABC's replacement for the shortest series in TV history—the turned-off Turn-On, axed after one airing.

This prodigious family (none of whom is actually named King) traces its roots back to Pleasant Grove, Utah, where William King Driggs, an itinerant music teacher, and his wife, Pearl, assembled the "Driggs Family of Entertainers" from among their brood of eight and put on one-night vaudeville shows. Their daughters became the famed King Sisters of the 1940s and their descendants comprise the present "King Family."

Fulfilling its function as a family magazine, TV GUIDE herewith presents the latest news of the King dynasty.

Karleton's Branch

Karleton, 55—eldest of the eight Driggs siblings, is now a grandfather. Sedate and controlled ("I classify myself as an introvert"), the family paymaster and clan censor has to keep himself ever-alert in his continuing efforts to blue-pencil those hidden messages about dope or sex that lurk in the youth music of today. His wife, Hazel, of the high soprano voice, is the only admitted brunette of her generation of the clan's females.

Their son Bill, 27, and his wife, Barbara, parents of Todd, 3, and Tammy,

1, breed parakeets. Son Don, 24, 6-foot-2 and 190 lbs., who married UCLA Homecoming Queen Cheryl Crawley, and whose offspring, Sean, is now 1, owns six registered Tennessee walking horses that are winning ribbons. Son Ray, 17, is a flying enthusiast.

Maxine's Branch

Maxine—eldest of the six sisters and first to be married, conscientious, an expert seamstress, recently came to the rescue with needle and thread when a couple of strategic zippers broke in rehearsal. Her husband of 34 years, LaVarn Thomas, bald tenor, the family turkey-carver at the dynasty's dinners, leads the prayers before the taping of each show. The whole kit and caboodle are Mormons.

Their son, Tom, 26, whose beautician-wife Donna is helping put him through dental school, recently made the dean's honor list. Their daughter, Carolyn, 25, named "zaniest" by her college, is leader of the "King Cousins." Carolyn's husband, Bill Brennan, sings with the Kings privately, on Christmas Eve only.

Luise's Branch

Luise—cool, shy, quietest of the sisters, is "Big Sister" customarily and "Big Mama" in a crisis. She's the family problem-solver and decision-maker, sometimes called "Madam Producer" (she's the show's co-executive-producer with sister Yvonne). She's a once-a-year soloist (privately, on New Year's Eve), keeps herself busy putting up home-grown olives and tomatoes. Her husband, Alvino Rey, former big-band

King-size family—and how it grows

By Dick Hobson

leader of the 1940s, inventor of the amplified steel guitar, hobbyist, gourmet cook, ham-radio buff, was recently converted by Luise to Mormonism after 33 years of marriage.

Their eldest son, Robi, 23, serves in the Admiral's Band of the United States Navy. Daughter Liza, 22, of the Yma Sumac vocal range and oriental eyes, family harpist, is studying in Madrid. Youngest son, Jon, 17, is "following in his father's footsteps" as a guitarist.

Alyce's Branch

Alyce of the big eyes—whose father called her "Theda Bara," now known as "our own Elsa Maxwell" because she entertains at home every Sunday night, and "The Atmosphere Queen" because she adores candlelight and a room with a view—is the family sentimentalist and still solos on occasion. Her husband, Bob Clarke—a would-be matinee idol who never quite made it, one-shot TV actor (Dragnet, Daktari, 77 Sunset Strip), life-insurance salesman, car-wash operator, champion of the King Family children and underdogs—has a personal and idiosyncratic sense of rhythm that is frequently out-of-sync with the rest of the family.

Alyce's son by a former marriage, Lex de Azevedo, 26—the show's musical arranger, hip, talented—is the realistic one. If someone flats a note he says, "Forget it—it'll never change the rating." He and his wife, Linda, have two children, Carrie, 2, and Julie, 9 months. Alyce's other son by her first marriage, Ric de Azevedo, 22, who has a way with the girls but who goes out of his way to dance with their mothers, appeared briefly on the show this year on leave from the U.S. Army Field →

Band. Alyce and Bob's son, Cam, 11, handsome and "quite spoiled," delights in drawing caricatures of the King Family.

Donna's Branch

Donna—the drummer in the family orchestra as a child, remembered by her mother as a mischievous youngster, who always loved show business more than anyone, but who no longer tours with the Kings ("We put her out to pasture")—is today gregarious and hospitable. Her husband of 26 years, Jim Conkling, founder of Reprise Records and former president of Columbia Records, is another convert to Mormonism. He seldom appears on the show but when he does he's likely to show up with a live frog in his hand, a fish or an electric buzzer. "Full of the old devil," they say.

There are five twigs to the Conkling branch. Candy, 24, the soft, shy, ethereal type off-camera but uninhibited on, is married to car-wash entrepreneur Bob Wilson and they have two children, Kristen, 4, and Brook, 2. Jamie, 22, a freckled redhead, likes to play Mother Confessor to her girl friends. Chris, 20, a nonconformist whose hair "almost touches his ears," is in Japan on a mission for the church. Xan (for Alexandra), 18, barely manages to do The King Family Show between choir practice and the second half of the high school basketball game. Laurette, at 10, is already a showbiz pro.

Vonnie's Branch

Yvonne—long referred to as "the vivacious little blonde on the right," in fact the only natural blonde of the six sisters, three-times married, "the artistic leader" whose idea it was to bring the whole King family together, outspoken, nervous, high-strung, a perfectionist—serves as co-executive producer with Luise. Her present husband, Bill Burch, is a film producer.

Vonnie's daughter, Tina (by a former husband, songwriter Buddy Cole), 26, is "Katie," Don Grady's "wife" and mother of triplets on My Three Sons. She is married to film editor Volney Howard III and they have a son, Volney IV, 3. Vonnie's other daughter, Cathy, 22, is a "worry wart" with a voracious appetite and the weight problem that goes with it. She's married to ABC executive Jim Green and they have an infant son, Jamie, 1.

Uncle Bill's Branch

William King Driggs Jr.—the family cutup, "spoiled" as a child by all those doting sisters ("And he still gets away with it!" according to them; "There are so many women it's overpowering!" according to him)—was 30 before he married; it took that long to find someone as glamorous, and at the same time religious, as his sisters. His wife, Phyllis, like his sisters, whips up full-course dinners for 300, and on one occasion, 500. Their three children, Steve, 12, Debra, 9, and Jonathan, 7, have their own vegetable garden.

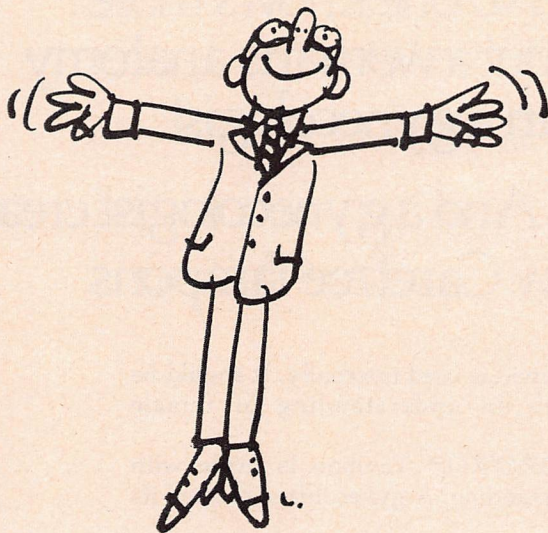

Marilyn's Branch

Marilyn, 35—20 years younger than her big brother Karleton, the baby sister who "grew up like a little princess" (at the age of 6 she led the Horace Heidt band), twice-married, the only King daring to wear miniskirts and leather boots, the tallest, and the acknowledged "family problem"—recently objected to a segment reminiscing about the Kings of yesteryear ("I'm younger than the rest of you," pouted Marilyn; "You don't look it," said her sisters).

Her husband, Kent Larsen, is the show's musical director and road manager. Marilyn has two children by her first marriage, Susannah Lloyd, who at 11 is as tall as a teen-ager, and Adam Lloyd, 9. The Larsens also have a daughter, Jennifer, 2, who is "talking all the time and getting into everything—just like her mother."

Remember, folks, you read it here first.

Networks Pick Movie Openers For New Season

What's for openers on the seven network movie nights? Well, for one thing, CBS's Doris Day on NBC—in "The Ballad of Josie," the first Tuesday night movie of the new season. And on CBS's Thursday and Friday night flick shows, it'll be "The Guns of Navarone" (with Gregory Peck, Anthony Quinn and David Niven), spread over the two nights. NBC will premiere its Monday Night at the Movies with "Nobody's Perfect" (Nancy Kwan and James Whitmore) and the Saturday night show with Charles Chaplin's "Countess from Hong Kong" (Sophia Loren and Marlon Brando). ABC's bids for the TV movie buffs will be "Our Man Flint" (James Coburn) on the Sunday night feature and "Guide for the Married Man" (Walter Matthau) on Wednesday night. NBC's premier week will begin on Sept. 14 and ABC's and CBS's on Sept. 22. (Actually, ABC will spread its fall series debuts over three weeks starting in mid-month.)

The Smothers Brothers, ousted by CBS from their Sunday night berth for refusing to play by the network rules, have fallen back on the only TV avenues apparently left open to them: guest appearances and local-station syndication. The taped show CBS declined to air last spring is being sold to individual outlets across the country. The Smotherses will try to follow this up with syndicated specials. Otherwise, it's the occasional drop-in routine for them: Tom was on The Merv Griffin Show Aug. 27—his first CBS appearance since the network run-in. Both Tom and Dick will do their bit on Glen Campbell's fall premiere.

Rosel H. Hyde's successor as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, according to Washington talk, may be Dean Burch, 41-year-old former chairman of the Republican National Committee and one-time aide to Barry Goldwater. Burch is a Tucson attorney. Hyde, whose term has expired, was asked by President Nixon to stay on until a replacement was found, but he is not expected to remain beyond the year's end.

The FCC's enfant terrible, Commissioner Nicholas Johnson, was at it again the night of Aug. 25, this time on ABC. Appearing on Dick Cavett's show, Commissioner Johnson allowed that a bill now making its way through Congress which would eliminate the traditional three-year renewal of TV and radio station licenses represented "the final takeover by the broadcasters." Johnson said he feared it was too late to stave off the action, but he felt the people are at least entitled to know "what it is that's about to happen to them in Washington as they sell off their democratic rights to the broadcasting industry."

Cavett nervously asked the Commissioner if he had anything else he'd like to get off his chest. Yes, Johnson hastened on, seeing his time running out, "My thesis is that television can't stand truth. It can't stand reality."

TORNADO GUIDANCE

Thanks to "In a Tornado Your TV Set May Save Your Life" [Aug. 9], while a tornado was ripping through Cincinnati, a half-hour from our home, I was explaining to my husband from the pages of TV GUIDE how the amazing TV tornado-warning system works!

IS BRITISH TV BETTER?

Why are you always boosting British TV? My wife and I came to Canada three years ago from Britain, and we both agree that North American television is far superior, both in picture quality and in program content, to any of the British networks, which contain a lot of offensive material.

Frank Meredith
Montreal

You have finally gone too far. If there is one thing I have learned from corresponding with my British friends over the years, it is that they would gladly trade their British programming for ours.

Anna Allen
Houston

Your Aug. 9 editorial concerning the better quality of TV in England couldn't be more true. All you have to do is watch Secret Agent or The Prisoner or an English movie and you will see the better acting and the better script material.

CRITIQUES OF CRIST

"May Britt . . . never approaches the tough tart of Marlene's creation," says Miss Crist in her thumbnail sketch of 20th Century's unforgivable remake of "The Blue Angel." Marlene's every move, every gesture, down to the quiver of an eyelash, was dictated. No exaggeration—I was there. Marlene was the creation of her director, and she would be the first to admit it. In fact, she often has.

Karl Thauer

Apparently it is impossible for Judith Crist to write anything complimentary about movies she reviews.

Marshall E. Cline
Lenoir, N.C.

Judith Crist is the most astute movie critic today. Her reviews are short, complete, to the point, extremely witty, informative and, above all, so very accurate. One could wish her forte were politics. Her column is the principal reason why I buy TV GUIDE each week.

Lea Lastrapes
Metairie, La.

WHEN UP IS DOWN

Your Aug. 16 TV GUIDE has a Star Trek Close-up showing the Enterprise up-side down. But I suppose you have the perfectly legitimate excuse that there is no "up" or "down" in space.

Nevertheless, the picture is hilarious.

TALK, TALK, TALK

What with NBC's Johnny Carson, ABC's Joey Bishop and now CBS's Merv Griffin, I do not watch late-evening TV. Since I talk all day at work, I do not want to listen to more talk at night. But I no longer have a choice. Give me a good movie. At this point I would even settle for a bad movie.

55 Days at Peking
Masquerade
The Ghost and Mr. Chicken
Marcus Welby, M.D.
Madison Avenue
Gigot

The goody for girl-watchers is, of course, the Miss America Pageant pre-empting one of the week's network movies, but movie-watchers also get a couple of breaks among the reruns.

"55 Days at Peking," Samuel Bronston's $9,000,000 superspectacular made-in-Spain Manchu Western, should prove irresistible to those who love a cast of thousands (6500 to be exact) and full-scale replicas of ancient cities crammed onto the small screen. The scene is the Boxer Rebellion in old Peking, but actually it's the Alamo and all those pioneer-stockade sieges all over again, with bloodletting and shortage of hospital supplies and abortive attempts to get help and the inevitable romance between the tough terse soldier (yup, it's Charlton Heston, girls) and the fallen woman who turns Florence Nightingale (wow, it's Ava Gardner, fellas). For lagniappe, there are some jim-dandy fireworks and zow spectacle when the whole town explodes; so let what's between-times (like dialogue) go by the board and enjoy the rest.

There's enjoyment too in "Masquerade," a first-class non-Bond spy story complete with smugglers, kidnappings of kidnapers and kidnapes alike, knifings, bird-watchers, private detectives, triple agents, quadruple crosses, and one of the neatest crime-does-pay queen-and-country-forever finales of the season. Jack Hawkins and Cliff Robertson, among others, have themselves a ball—without ever letting the cheek bulge where the tongue is.

From here on it's cultist's choice. If you go for slick and/or soaped opera, there's "Marcus Welby, M.D.," pilot for the series to run on ABC this fall, with Robert Young as the doctor straddling a generation gap, and "Madison Avenue," a Hollywood standard about the back-stabbery of high-type flackery, with Dana Andrews as he who stabs and gets stabbed and winds up the better for it all.

The Gleason-as-a-latter-day-Chaplin cult can revel in "Gigot" again, but hopefully won't bother to write those mad letters again just because I happen to find more bathos than pathos in his Poor-Soul-in-Paris routine. Gleason is a verbal comedian and his portrait of a mute janitor befriended by an innocent chee-ild reeks of sentimentality rather than sentiment, with self-indulgence the major talent displayed. "Gigot" means leg of mutton, but Gleason, more ponderous than poignant, plays it in elephant-stump style.

From would-be shades of Chaplin we go on to equally pretentious shades of Harold Lloyd in "The Ghost and Mr. Chicken," wherein Don Knotts gets his go-round as the local milquetoast who becomes a hero in spite of himself. It might have added up to a half-hour commercial-splattered television show; instead this turkey—oops, chicken—takes 90 minutes to lay its egg.

In some areas network movies may not be seen on the days indicated.

MISS AMERICA BEAUTY PAGEANT

Special: A year shy of its golden anniversary, this dowager of pageants goes mod. Rock (of a gentle sort) backs up the theme "The Sound of Young," a musical salute to American youth.

At Convention Hall in Atlantic City, emcee Bert Parks serves for the 15th time—singing "There She Is, Miss America." But there's a new hostess: Debbie Bryant, the 1966 title holder.

Events stay with tradition. The 50 entrants parade in gowns; 10 semifinalists compete in swim suits and talent; five finalists are selected; and, capping the evening, departing queen Judith Anne Ford crowns Miss America 1970.

Entertainment by the singing-dancing Statements and dancer Benny Smith. Songs include "Just Do Your Thing" and "Look at Her." (Live; 2 hrs.)

10:00 3 4 BATTLE OF BRITAIN C

Special: Michael Caine narrates this documentary-style re-creation of England's fight for survival against the Nazi aerial onslaught of 1940. The RAF's triumph over the Luftwaffe is restaged in scenes filmed during the production of the forth-coming all-star movie "The Battle of Britain."
Shown are aerial dogfights, the strafing of British radar installations and the bombing of London. Laurence Olivier is seen interviewing the war hero he portrays in the film, former RAF Commander-in-Chief Hugh Dowding. On the enemy side, Air Field Marshall Erhard Milch tells how he advocated an immediate invasion of Britain following the Nazi victories at Dunkirk. (60 min.)

There's an exciting, highly-paid career waiting for you in the booming hotel / motel field

Earn $10,000 to $15,000 and more in a career filled with good living. Send for free booklet. It tells you how to qualify.

SEE POSTCARD ON FOLLOWING PAGE

America's most fabulous want you for an executive

The need for thousands of new managers is so great, the industry association has authorized LaSalle to train you in your spare time at home.

How would you like a direct line to an executive position in the fast-growing hotel/motel field? Where you'll not only be well paid, but also enjoy extras like great meals, housing, entertainment, recreation facilities? Where you will join in guest activities and meet some of the most interesting people in the world?

You are needed now

The hospitality industry needs top managers. Supervisors. Department heads and assistants. Executives from the junior level and up. But there aren't enough trained people to fill all the 25,000 new openings each year.

So the Educational Institute of the American Hotel & Motel Association is offering its executive training courses to you through LaSalle, leader in the home study field.

That means you can now take the industry's own courses, endorsed and recognized by the industry's own leaders, in your spare time. Without giving up your present job until you're ready. And when you have the AH&MA Graduate Diploma, their placement service will assist you in getting started. Every AH&MA graduate is now employed in an executive position!

Lead the good life in luxurious surroundings enjoying high income, free recreation, many living costs paid for.

Opportunities for all

Whether you are a young man or woman seeking an exciting lifetime career or of maturer years and looking for good income in a new, prestigious field, you'll find the right position waiting for you when you've trained. General manager. Front office executive. Banquet manager. Personnel director. Property manager. Social director. And scores more. Or you may want to go into a modest resort business of your own.

The better jobs in the industry pay $10,000 to $15,000 and frequently go much higher. When you add all the free extras that are yours living in plush resorts or big-city luxury hotels, these positions are among the most rewarding in the country.

Take the first step. Get the facts about this fascinating field, the jobs available and the training offered. Send card for free booklet "Rewarding Careers in Hotel/Motel Management." No obligation, of course.

The fast-growing "hospitality" field needs 25,000 new executives each year. Be one!

Here's one field where age, sex, former education or occupation doesn't rule you out. The big jobs in the hotel/motel field are open to everyone willing to train.

Now the most professional training of all has been made available to you by the Educational Institute of the American Hotel & Motel Association, which has authorized LaSalle to offer you its courses by mail, to study in your spare time at home. This is your opportunity for a career that can give you big earnings, personal prestige, and all the good things of life in luxurious surroundings. Get the facts now. No obligation. Send card to LaSalle, 417 S. Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois 60605.

Graduate Diploma holders qualify for the AH&MA free worldwide placement service. Here J. W. Conner of the AH&MA discusses placement with recent graduate.

Top executives of the hotel/motel field praise the AH&MA courses:

"The Educational Institute of AH&MA has provided our industry with a series of well-organized courses that have proven to be most beneficial."
—Vernon Herndon, Senior V.P., Hilton Hotels Corporation.

"The AH&MA Educational Institute home study courses are being used in Ramada Inns as part of our planned management development program."
—Charles W. Lanphere, Vice President, Ramada Inns, Inc.

"Most of those who have received the diploma have moved into the administrative ranks of our organization. I know of no better endorsement."—Roy Watson, President and General Mgr., Kahler Corporation.

Drop everything! Win a vacation home filled with prizes!

Enter the United California Bank Master Charge Sweepstakes!

Your chance is as good as anybody's. So don't put it off. Enter the UCB Master Charge Sweepstakes. You may walk off with the fun-sational First Prize...an exciting prize-filled vacation house and cash for a home-site to build it on! With the house, you'll receive a Chrysler 16-foot Fiberglass Sloop, Magnavox Home Entertainment Center, Samsonite Furniture (either indoor or outdoor), Brunswick Bumper Pool Table and Skotch Kooler Picnic Equipment.

5 lucky Second Prize winners will each enjoy $1,000 in Master Charge credit. Spend the $1,000 any way you want, with any of the thousands of UCB merchants who honor Master Charge. United California Bank will pick up the tab!

5,000 fun-sational Third Prizes will be awarded, too. Attractive, roomy tote bags that you can take to the beach, shopping, on a picnic, or a trip.

It's easy to win. There's nothing to buy. Just get your free entry blank at any of the stores and businesses where you see this display, or at any UCB office.

If you wish, you may complete the UCB Master Charge card application accompanying the official entry blank. Master Charge is the no-fee card that's honored most everywhere you go. It's good at over 115,000 places in California alone, plus 48 other states and several foreign countries. We think you'll enjoy its convenience. However, completion of the Master Charge card application is NOT required for Sweepstakes entry.

Or, in lieu of the entry blank, write your name and address on a plain piece of 3" x 5" paper. Mail to: tin Southern California United California Bank, Master Charge Sweepstakes, P.O. Box 3666, Terminal Annex, Los Angeles, California 90054; tin Northern California United California Bank, Master Charge Sweepstakes, P.O. Box 7825, Rincon Annex, San Francisco, California 94102.

Winners will be determined by random drawings conducted by the D. L. Blair Corporation, an independent judging organization whose decisions will be final. Winners will be notified by mail. No substitutions for prizes offered.

Sweepstakes open to residents of CALIFORNIA only, 21 years of age or older, except employees and their families of United California Bank, Master Charge, D. L. Blair Corporation, their affiliates, and their respective advertising agencies. One entry per family.

All Federal, State and local regulations apply. Void where prohibited by law. Sweepstakes closes November 30, 1969. All entries must be postmarked by that date and received by December 15, 1969. So, drop everything and enter today!

Doctors Find Way To Shrink Hemorrhoids, Stop Itch—Relieve Pain IN MOST CASES.

Doctors have found a medication that in most cases makes it possible to actually shrink hemorrhoids. In case after case, while gently relieving pain and itching, reduction (shrinkage) took place.

The answer is Preparation H®. There's no other formula like it for the treatment of hemorrhoids. Preparation H also soothes inflamed, irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In Ointment or Suppository form.

CBS NEWS SPECIAL (C)

9:30 10 12 5

THE MAKING OF THE PRESIDENT: 1968

Special: Exclusive films and interviews highlight Theodore H. White's chronicle of the 1968 Presidential campaign.

In White's view, events overshadowed individual politicians: the Tet offensive in Vietnam proved a final breach in President Johnson's credibility gap; the New Hampshire campaign of Eugene McCarthy, carried forward by zealous student workers, heralded a new kind of politics; Robert F. Kennedy's "politics of concern" clashed with the "politics of joy" espoused by Hubert Humphrey; and the cry for law and order was intensified by assassination—first Martin Luther King Jr., then Robert Kennedy.

Theodore White offers personal commentary throughout the program, which charts the progress of a "new" Richard Nixon on the campaign trail ("I'm not an actor . . . I can't be packaged"); the conventions in Miami ("placid") and Chicago ("the furies in the streets"); campaigning by third-party candidates Wallace and LeMay; election night, as Mr. Nixon amasses electoral votes.

Narrated by actor Joseph Campanella. Produced by Mel Stuart, who worked closely with White for TV's "Making of the President: 1960" and "1964." (90 min.)

Stills and films recall Todd's varied business ventures: huge amusement concessions at the 1939 World's Fair, his bawdy Chicago cafe; a losing stab at running a race track; the chaotic televised Madison Square Garden party; and scenes, on and off camera, from the star-studded epic

"Around the World in 80 Days." Also: recollections by Elizabeth Taylor, and interviews with Todd's friends, including Orson Welles, Gypsy Rose Lee and Lowell Thomas. Welles and actor Martin Balsam narrate. (Rerun; 60 min.)

6 9 NET FESTIVAL

Dramatic sequences and animation combine to present a satiric look at "The History of Frivolity." Man in all his vanity and folly is humorously exposed in sequences including Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden; a Roman orgy; a risqué 18th-century flirtation; and a luxurious bubble bath. This Spanish-made film won first prize at the 1968 Montreux (Switzerland) Television Festival. English narration accompanies the Spanish dialogue. (60 min.) Dept. 99-VTF, Garden City, N.Y. 11530

Please accept my application for a trial membership in the Literary Guild and send me the FOUR books or sets whose numbers I have printed in the four boxes below. Bill me only $1 plus shipping and handling for all four. If not delighted, I may return them in 10 days and this membership will be canceled.

I do not need to accept a book every month—only as few as four a year—and may resign any time after purchasing four books. All selections and alternates will be described to me in advance in "the Literary Guild magazine," sent free each month, and a convenient form will always be provided for my use if I do not wish to receive a forthcoming selection. You will bill me the special Guild price for each book I take. This will average at least 40% below the price of the publisher's edition. (A modest charge is added for shipping and handling.) For each monthly selection (or alternate selection) I accept, I may choose a bonus book, from the special catalog, at a fraction of the already low Guild price—often for as little as $1.

APOLLO 11 ASTRONAUTS

At press time, the possibility existed that the Apollo 11 astronauts would speak before a joint session of Congress. Regular programming would be pre-empted by network coverage. Early estimates placed the time at about 9:30 A.M., but there was also a chance that the astronauts would be honored with a parade from the White House to the Capitol which would alter the telecast time.

MALE OF THE SPECIES

Special: Laurence Olivier is host and narrator for three short and bittersweet plays about the battle of the sexes.

The stars are Paul Scofield, who won an Emmy for this performance, Michael Caine and Sean Connery. Each portrays a man who is charming, attractive—and something of a heel. For each, the lady of the moment is Mary MacNeill, played by Anna Calder-Marshall, who also won an Emmy. Mary is a tough and independent Scotswoman, but sometimes too wary and sometimes too trusting.

MacNeil: Mary's widowed father (Sean Connery) is a perennial ladies' man. He gives Mary her first lesson about the ways and wiles of men. Miss Saville: Katharine Blake.

Cornelius (Michael Caine): He helps his friend Fred by wooing away (and gently dropping) his girls before they learn Fred is married. Mary is the latest girl. Fred: Michael Bates.

Emlyn: Sir Emlyn Bowen (Paul Scofield) is a distinguished lawyer; Mary is the obscure typist who catches his eye. Toby:
Geoffrey Chater.

Written by Welsh playwright Alun Owen, who did the screenplay for the Beatles' "A Hard Day's Night." (Rerun; 90 min.)

ALL FOR THE GENTLE SEX FROM KIMBERLY-CLARK

When in doubt, do it

That's what keeps Eddie Albert busy, happy . . . and rich

By Leslie Raddatz

The Alberts: With Eddie are wife Margo, Eddie Jr. and Maria.

Actors do a variety of things after they become stars of television series.

Andy Williams and Gene Barry bought ostentatious homes in exclusive suburbs. Steve McQueen and James Garner became major motion-picture stars. Clint Eastwood and George Nader went into European films, where the former made a hit and the latter makes a living. Robert Culp was divorced from his wife of many years. James Arness not only did that but retired into a king-sized seclusion from which he refuses to speak to press, public and even some of his co-workers. Ronald Reagan became governor of California.

And then there is Eddie Albert.

After four years as co-star of CBS's Green Acres, Albert still lives in the same comfortable, unpretentious house he has lived in for 12 years. He lives with the same wife—former actress Margo, whom he married in 1945. And he enjoys the same things, including talking, he has enjoyed most of his life.

Of course, there are some differences wrought by television. "People feel more possessive of me," Albert says. "Truck drivers holler, 'Hi, Eddie.' That wasn't common when I was in pictures. But when you're on TV, people apparently feel comfortable just yelling at you."

He also likes "the idea of TV's hitting so many people, diverting them for a half-hour from the rather violent world we live in." And he enjoys meeting those people when he makes personal appearances and plays fairs during the summer: "You not only learn to know your audience and their reactions, but you learn different aspects of your trade. Jack Benny, Bob Hope, Red Skelton all had a stage where they could perform. Now you have to seek it out. You try new things, and if they work you use them when you get back to Hollywood, even if it's just a slight change of expression or the way you smile when you say a line."

The last sentence points up one of the four facets—some overlapping, some contradictory—which make up Eddie Albert. There is, obviously, the actor. There is the man of constant, almost compulsive, action. There is the philosopher. And finally, although he puts it Number One, there is the family man.

Eddie Albert the actor, now sixtyish, is naturally most familiar to the public. Despite the fact that he got his first break in the lightweight comedy "Brother Rat," and now stars in a simple and bucolic TV series, Albert is a serious actor who takes himself and his craft seriously. He recalls, "When I was in 'Sister Carrie,' I went through all of Theodore Dreiser and tried to find the background of the salesman, Drouet, whose part I played. I tried to learn how he dressed—even what sort of cuff links he wore. Where Dreiser knew the original of the character, I drew on my own experiences as a salesman. [Before becoming an actor, Albert tried selling insurance.] In 'Attack' I also drew on my own experiences, trying to recall my reactions in various situations during the war." (Albert came out of World War II a full lieutenant in the Navy. He took the first wave of marines onto the beach at Tarawa. Today he says, "I saw enough of war to give me sort of an angry idea about it, but not enough to get me knocked off.")

In Green Acres, he admits, "I play myself—or one aspect of myself—and I try to arouse in the audience things that make them identify with me." But then he adds, "I don't know how long this thing will last, but when it does end, I'll be a hell of a lot better actor than when I went into it." He even defends the commercial spots he does on television, although admitting that money is an important consideration ("When somebody offers me thousands of dollars for an afternoon's work, it's hard to turn down.") Probably more important, however—since he really doesn't need the money—is the fact that he has an opportunity to do →

A medically sound treatment for most painful hemorrhoids

First, stop the pain. And the itching. Nupercainal® is a unique combination of lubricants plus the most effective topical pain reliever available without a prescription. It relieves pain and itching fast. Provides much longer lasting relief. Nupercainal also soothes inflamed tissue—in turn helps the natural healing process. Moreover Nupercainal facilitates natural movements.

Next, doctors recommend, use common sense. Stay off spicy, highly seasoned foods. Avoid constipation and what causes it. Such as lack of rest and bad eating habits. Stay regular. Sitz baths aid comfort and natural healing.

Above all, use caution. Nupercainal brings relief in most cases and for most types of hemorrhoids. But if symptoms are severe, persistent, frequently recurrent...if there is rectal bleeding...do see your doctor.

Caution, Common Sense, & Nupercainal

something different: "I enjoy doing other shows, where I can sing or recite serious poetry. The commercials are like that—a chance to do something I've never done before. Happiness to me means constant growth. If I see a chance to do something, even if it stinks, I do it. I'm always on the side of action—I just can't sit on my butt and do Green Acres."

That is why there is an Eddie Albert, man of action. A friend says, "He reminds me of 'What Makes Sammy Run?' without the unpleasant aspects. On the set, when he isn't working, he's always on the phone, wheeling and dealing—but, again, not in the usual sense. Actually, he would make a tremendous Boy Scout leader." Albert himself has said, "I feel that all of me is in a pressure cooker." When asked what Albert does when he relaxes, a friend replied, "He never does."

This is almost literally true. He runs two or three miles every day in the sand near his Pacific Palisades home—"not just to keep in shape," says someone who knows him, "but because he really enjoys it." Eddie himself says, "As I run, my problems kind of disappear. I want to be able to run with my kids when I'm 75 years old. I intend to." He may have inherited this salutary habit from his father, Frank Heimberger, now 95, who used to run eight or nine miles a day. According to Eddie, his father, a former house painter, "sort of retired when he was 88 or 89 because the ladders got hard to lift." But he promptly enrolled in an art school and still paints in the Hollywood apartment he shares with Eddie's mother, who is 80. The Heimbergers had five children. Eddie was born in Rock Island, Ill., and raised in Minneapolis. After attending the University of Minnesota, he moved on to New York, radio and the stage, and eventually to Hollywood and the movies.

During recent months, besides his daily turns on the beach, he had taken to running up hills, preparing himself for a summer mountain-climbing expedition to Alaska. He said, "I didn't want to have to say, 'Wait for me, fellows.' That would have been humiliating, and I don't like that." In addition to the Alaskan junket, Albert planned to take his family on a trip to British Columbia. Over the years, he has explored some of the most remote parts of the world, and once met—Eddie Albert the philosopher begins to intrude here—Dr. Schweitzer in Africa. He is inclined to minimize his travels. "I like to wake up in the morning and not smell the smog," he says. But he adds, "These are the things that give you enjoyment—that's what life is all about."

What life is all about is the prime concern of Eddie Albert the philosopher. Here again he downgrades his obvious interest. "Philosophy is a crummy word," he says. "I'm not a philosopher or anything like that." But he can and does quote—and at some length—from such a variety of great minds as Chardin, Sir Arthur Eddington, Einstein and Gandhi, and he was talking about Zen Buddhism before it became fashionable. Where the conversation of most Hollywoodites is limited to the latest pictures and gossip, Eddie Albert visits the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions at Santa Barbara and talks to the deep thinkers there. He has said, "We who live and work in Hollywood discuss almost nothing but our work and each other and our fairly cramped lives." Perhaps because he does not do this, he is not one of the most popular persons in Hollywood. A friend explains, "He resents having to become involved in things he really isn't interested in."

His real interests are far-reaching. They range all the way from "the primary concern of any man—what is the meaning of life, why are we here?" to the human body, its functions and malfunctions. The former interest can probably be traced to his boyhood Catholicism, his subsequent disillusionment and his search since for a substitute.

The latter has resulted in an almost fanatical interest in organic foods and preventive medicine ("There's no reason why a man should have a decayed tooth"). He is now in the process of collating two books—one on health vis-a-vis sickness, the other on pollution. Twenty years ago, he made two then-controversial films on sex education, and today is preparing a television special on the same subject, with less emphasis, however, on what he refers to as "the plumbing" and more on the relationships between men and women and their children.

The relationships in the Albert household—Eddie, Margo ("She has ESP"), Edward, 18, and Maria, 15—are happy. The actor has made it a practice to take the family along on almost all his trips—"The family is always the Number One thing," he says. Recalling his own Teutonic upbringing, he says, "I try to avoid that—obedience is confused with discipline." Some of his ideas of child-raising are definitely old-fashioned, though. Young Maria, most of whose peers are dating and at least one of whom is pregnant, can go out with a boy only if his parents accompany them.

Both of the Albert offspring are artistically inclined. Edward, who graduated from Pacific Palisades public high school last year, is, according to his father "a good writer, photographer and actor." He was recently in Spain, working on a film as a "gopher"—a beginner who runs errands. It was in Spain that Eddie adopted Maria in 1955. Now a student at the liberal-oriented Oakwood school, she is, Albert says, "a superb actress, dancer, singer and mimic." To an unprejudiced reporter, Edward and Maria seem like a couple of nice kids, courteous and pleasant, who may have picked up some of the things their father has said along the way. Such as, "One person well-brought-up can change the whole world."

Everychild's name is 'Jot'

How a unique concept is being employed to teach moral lessons to millions of youngsters

By Frank X. Tolbert

So far hundreds of thousands of children have written fan letters to a television personality called JOT. This is surprising, because JOT is often only a bouncing dot on the screen.

JOT is the star and title of a series of four-and-one-half-minute color cartoons that are actually animated plays aimed at children aged 5 to 10.

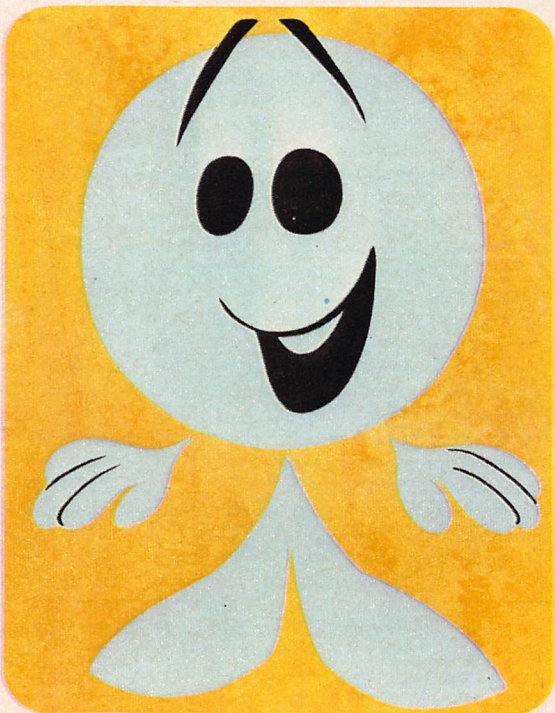

One child, a second-grader in Phoenix, Ariz., began his letter: "JOT I like you very much. What are you JOT? Are you an egg? Are you a baseball? Are you a boy? I would like to be whatever you are JOT."

The series is presently appearing on children's shows on more than 50 television stations in this country and Australia. Stations in Japan and Europe have asked for JOT as soon as foreign-language dubbing is accomplished.

The first 13 episodes were produced at a cost of about $20,000 each by the Radio and Television Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention. The commission has headquarters in Fort Worth, Texas, but sends its people all over the world to make award-winning (including two awards from Roman Catholic organizations) color films for television. JOT is a Baptist brain child all right, but he is strictly soft-sell and thoroughly ecumenical in spirit and deed. You have to read the credits at the end to know that the films are produced by the Southern Baptist Convention.

JOT was created by Ruth Byers, former director of children's dramatic productions at Paul Baker's Dallas Theater Center, and Ted Perry, also a Baker disciple. Mrs. Byers, who also writes the series, says that JOT's round shape was inspired by the drawings of very young children, who usually represent the human body as more or less a circle. JOT, Mrs. Byers adds, "reflects a child's personality, sensitive to his inner world of thought and feeling. His conscience acts as a spiritual thermostat, registering thoughts and actions and calling attention to those that conflict with his spiritual well-being. JOT starts out as a dot, but changes shape and color to reflect his struggles with his conscience. His problems are resolved only when he realigns himself with his inner standards, thereby regaining his spiritual balance—and his familiar round shape."

JOT and his bouncing playmates can express emotion as well as moral turmoil. In the close-ups, the expressive faces change shape and color to show joy or sadness. The children's imaginations fill in the gaps in JOT's anatomy. Illustrating the flexibility of young minds, Mrs. Byers explains, "At the snap of a finger a child can become a tree, a rabbit, a raindrop, the wind, a bird. . . ."

While the Southern Baptists' Radio and Television Commission has made many nonsectarian films on such subjects as the British Museum and Rembrandt (including an hour-long film on the National Gallery of Art), the commission had never done any child-oriented programming before Ruth Byers and Ted Perry were commissioned to create JOT. If the response from children is any indication, this first effort can be judged a success.

JOT's creators are presently at work on a second series of JOT episodes—to be released, if all work goes as scheduled, early in 1970. This second series will deal with problems of poverty, racial differences and life in the urban ghettos, making JOT and his moral messages more relevant to youngsters in Northern cities.

The bright, contemporary images of JOT and his pals are a refreshing contrast to some of the tired, old and mindless cartoons shown on many children's shows. Jerry Haynes, "Mr. Peppermint" of WFAA-TV in Dallas, says that he gets many appreciative letters from parents, such as this one from Irving, Texas: "JOT has put the difference between right and wrong on a child's level of thinking, and yet the show is fascinating to adults, and has a message for them."

Mr. Peppermint also said that "judging by the mail, the children never tire of JOT. I've run those 13 original episodes over three or four times and the kids keep asking for more. I finally released the film because so many other stations wanted it. I'm looking forward to the second series."

Women from 22 churches in the Dallas-Fort Worth area volunteered to answer 175,000 or so letters that JOT has received from near-by youngsters. In the reply, a surprise—a JOT button or game—is sent to the child. Some of the fan letters are amusing; others are as poignant as this one: "JOT I don't have any friends. I haven't had any friends for 3 years. I hope you will be my friend JOT."

A Roast and...

Have you ever looked for something different, something more exciting than plain potatoes to serve with meat? Here are three dishes — all perfect to go with that family roast.

CRUSTY POTATO PANCAKES

Makes 12 pancakes, about 4 inches in diameter

- | | |
|--------------------------------|------------------------------|
| 6 medium-size potatoes, peeled | 1½ tsp. salt |
| 1 small onion, grated | Melted vegetable shortening, |
| 3 eggs | about ½ inch deep |
| ¾ cup all-purpose flour | |

Grate potatoes coarsely into a bowl filled with cold water. This keeps the potatoes from turning dark and removes some of the excess starch, making the pancakes crisper. In another bowl combine onion, egg, flour and salt. Drain potatoes, pressing out all liquid. Beat potatoes into batter. Heat shortening. Spoon heaping tablespoons of the batter into shortening, spreading batter with the back of the spoon into 4-inch rounds. Brown on one side. Turn and brown on the other side. Brown the pancakes slowly so potatoes will have a chance to cook through properly. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve hot.

GNOCCHI

Makes 6 servings

- | | |
|---------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| 1 quart milk | 2 eggs, well-beaten |
| 1 cup yellow cornmeal or farina | 1 small onion, minced |
| 2 tsp. salt | 1½ cups grated Parmesan cheese |
| ¼ tsp. pepper | ¼ cup melted butter or margarine |

Combine cold milk and cornmeal. Cook, stirring, until mixture bubbles and becomes very thick. Stir in salt, pepper, eggs and onion. Beat in 1 cup of the cheese. Spread mixture in a shallow 1½-quart oblong pyrex casserole. Mixture will be about 1½ inches thick. Chill. Unmold and cut with a sharp knife or cookie cutter into desired shapes — fingers, squares or crescents. Place pieces in a single layer in buttered casserole. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle with remaining grated Parmesan cheese. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350°F.) for 20 minutes or until lightly browned and hot.

LAYERED BAKED FIDEOS

Serves 6

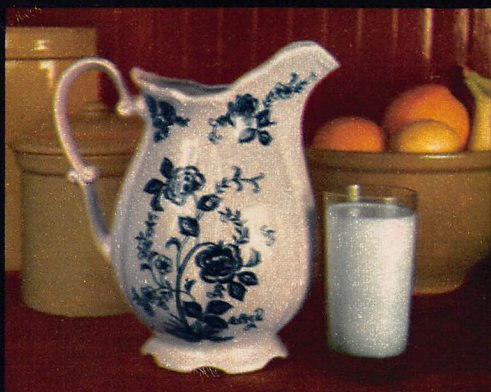

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|------------------------------|
| 2 packages (6 ounces each) | 1½ cups milk |
| fideos or 12 ounces spaghetti | 1 cup (½ pint) light cream |
| 3 cups ricotta or cottage cheese | 4 eggs |
| ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese | 1½ tsp. salt |
| ¼ pound thinly sliced prosciutto ham, | ¼ tsp. pepper |
| chopped | ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese |

Cook fideos as directed on package. If you are using spaghetti, break strands in half before cooking. Rinse cooked fideos with cold water. In a greased 2½-quart casserole arrange layers of cooked fideos, ricotta, Parmesan cheese and prosciutto, ending with fideos. Beat milk, cream, eggs, salt and pepper and pour over fideos. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Cover loosely. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350°F.) for 45 minutes to 1 hour, or until casserole is lightly browned and firm. Garnish, if desired, with additional chopped prosciutto and finely chopped parsley.

Success! An instant milk that doesn't taste like one.

Milkman is the only instant milk that's made the way nature intended. With sweet, fresh cream.

You'll taste the difference immediately. Full and rich, instead of weak and flat. You'll even see the difference in the way Milkman's creaminess clings to the sides of a glass.

Forget about the instants you have to "spike" with regular milk. Switch to Milkman low fat instant milk. In the 6 or 12 quart size.

Your family may think you've switched to fresh milk. But you, your pocketbook, and the Milkman will know the real truth.

Made the natural way: with cream.

The GOLDDIGGERS have already signed to go with BOB HOPE on his annual Christmas tour of Vietnam.

She knows as much as you do about sanitary napkins.

Your nine-year-old daughter doesn't know much about sanitary napkins.

Except that she sees them in your closet once in a while.

And, unfortunately, that's almost as much as you know about them, too.

For instance.

Do you know if the plastic lining of your sanitary napkin covers all of the bottom—to protect you against accidents? Or only part of the bottom?

Modess has a protective cradle of blue polyethylene that covers every inch of its bottom. And both sides, where accidents also happen. Nobody else has that.

And what's your sanitary napkin made of? Paper and tissue may sound good. But it's not very good for absorbing moisture.

Modess is made of high-absorption material. We've also discovered a criss-cross system that's been patented*.

It distributes moisture throughout the entire napkin. So the napkin absorbs better and you're protected from one-spot soak-through.

Does the top layer of your napkin absorb slowly and leave wetness next to you?

The top layer of Modess is made to absorb moisture quickly, into its inner layers, to keep you drier.

If you don't know most of these facts, one question. On what basis have you been choosing a sanitary napkin?

You owe it to yourself to know all you can about sanitary napkins, so you can get the best protection there is.

But, as important, you owe it to that nine-year-old. Who'll one day come to mommy because mommy always knows what's best.
